

Reproduced on a Sensitive Plate the Impression of a Silver Quarter of Which His Subject Was Thinking.

The exterior appearance of the camera

THE APPARATUS AND THE SUBJECT BY WHICH YOUNG EDISON SAYS HE PHOTOGRAPHED A THOUGHT

"I feel so greatly encouraged by the result of my experiment that I will continue to improve my apparatus until I have a perfect instrument. I have firm faith that it is practicable to photograph thought, and I shall not rest until I accomplish it. I hope to do so within a month."

The objection that the surety and guaranty companies have not the capital to furnish a single bond of $15,000,000 weighs but little with the company's resources behind it. The guaranty corporations may be called upon to furnish a portion of the security, but the company's issue of securities and the personal real estate holdings of the company's officers and directors, can furnish both the $15,000,000 bond and security to the amount of $30,000,000, as required by the law.

A number of old states which were interested in the old companies which se-

Assuming these items—i. e., the revenues of the Sinking Fund and the annual increases of assessed valuations of real estate—to show for the 1880s that the margin was about 20 percent, it follows that during that period the margin was about $125,265,962, without any reduction of the margin which now exists between its net debt and its net assets.

The existing margin is only about $30,000,000, and would be reduced or increased, according as in the equalization of assessed valuations between New York or Brooklyn, or between the two cities, the latter's Brooklyn's reduced.

Early spring miles up we encountered the O'Neill party, of Los Angeles. They are all well and were engaged in building cabins when we left them, but have now returned to their purpose to prospect in the Spring along the right fork of the Copper River and Bernesea River. There are twenty in the party, and have been camped about twenty miles from the mouth of the river. About twenty of the Lamin party are camped on Valde's Pass, and the rest are at Eyock, the head of navigation on the lower end of the Sound.

Early Spring the Time.

"We were driven back by storms, and it is my opinion that a man cannot get in that country before March or, possibly, in Chicago, Dec. 18.—Rev. Frank De Witt Talmage, son of Dr. T. De Witt Talmage, has been made chaplain of the Second Regiment, Illinois National Guard.

"I have," said Dr. Farrar, "spent seven years of my life in this growing church, which has now become strong and independent. I have been able to devote my life to saving souls, without money, without price. I have consecrated my work to the Master, and I am convinced that the great stage is laid in the world for more than a year the Lord has been leading me."

Dr. Farrar said he had been strongly influenced to take this course by some meetings he had attended at the University when he was abroad last Summer. These meetings were the outgrowth of a movement for an unpaid ministry. He was

The United States District Attorney took up the matter to-day, in order to determine whether there was sufficient evidence at hand upon which to begin proceedings for a violation of the neutrality laws.

He examined several witnesses with great care, but at the close of his inquiry he stated that he had not brought any charges against either the officers or crew of the schooner.

Chicago, Dec. 18.—Out of the quarrels bickering with the State Board of Agriculture over the recent Horse Show, an independent organization has grown up.

The International Horse Show Association has been incorporated, and the company will hold shows annually in this city in the future. Joe Laffer, the millionaire speculator; John A. Logan, Jr., and several others of the younger set of society sporting men in Chicago, figure as the movers and directors of the new company.